ADVENTIST TENT CITY—END CREEPS NEARER

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA CONFERENCE CAMP MEETING
AUG. 5-15

Seventh-day Adventists throughout the Southern California conference will hold their annual campmeeting in Los Angeles from August 5 to 15. A great tent city, for the accommodation of between 2000 and 3000 persons, now is being erected at Forty-first street and Moneta avenue, under the direction of L. F. Case. A great circular tent, seating between 3000 and 3500 persons, is on the ground and will be in readiness within the next few days. In this the general meetings will be held. Large tents have also been pitched for the meetings of the young people, children and kindergartners, besides special services in the German and Spanish languages. In addition to these, about 400 tents are being pitched, which will serve as cottages for the campers.

Speakers of world-wide note will be present. Pastor J. E. Fulton, president of the Australasian Union Conference of the Seventh-day Adventists, who arrived in San Francisco from his South Pacific field only a week ago, will tell of the wonderful strides the Adventists have made there. He and Pastor J. M. Cole were the first Adventist missionaries to the Fiji Islands 20 years ago. The Adventists now have a strong church upon the island, where the natives formerly were cannibals. A constituency has been raised up on other islands near by, so that it is now proposed to organize the Fiji island group into a conference.

Pastor R. F. Cottrell, superintendent of the Central China Mission, who is in charge of an immense territory with a population of 138,000,000, larger than the whole United States, is expected to be present, and to tell of the interesting customs of the people in the interior. The Adventists now have their missionaries even on the borders of Tibet, a country not yet penetrated by the emissaries of any denomination.

Miss Petra Tunheim, superintendent of the West Java mission, who speaks six languages, will attend the meeting, and will exhibit the Javanese costume, telling of the work being done by the Adventists there. In her girlhood Miss Tunheim was a shepherdess in Scandinavia. She is in America on furlough. Francis E. Stafford, from Shanghai on furlough, also probably will be at the meeting.

The music will be a special feature, being in charge of Prof. I. C. Colcord, who led the large choir last year, when the big tent city was located at Alhambra for ten days. Noah E. Paulin will be in charge of the orchestra. Other members of the music committee are Gertrude I. Bachman, Harold Davis and J. R. Dieffenbacher.

A large dining tent, grocery store and book tent will be in operation on the ground. E. G. Fulton, the well-known operator of vegetarian cafes, being in charge of the cafeteria. The book tent will be stocked with books, tracts and periodicals of the Adventists in many languages. The denomination now is publishing in 88 languages, and is adding new ones every year. Eventually Adventist leaders expect to publish their literature in every language of the globe.

Among other leading speakers who will be in attendance at the camp meeting will be: Pastors E. E. Andrews of Glendale, president of the Pacific Union conference; E. W. Farnsworth, vice president for the states of California, Nevada, Utah and Arizona; J. N. Loughborough of Lodi, oldest minister in the denomination, and who preached in a tent at Petaluma the first series of Seventh-day Adventist sermons ever heard on the Pacific coast; F. M. Burg, instructor in Bible at Loma Linda college of Medical Evangelists; N. P. Neilsen of Fresno, president Central California conference of the Adventists; W. F. Martin of Santa Ana, president Southeastern California conference; B. E. Beddoe, Los Angeles, president Southern California conference; G. W. Reaser, field secretary Pacific Union conference; C. W. Irwin, president Pacific Union college, St. Helena; M. E. Cady, educational superintendent of the Pacific Union conference; Dr. Newton Evans, president Loma Linda college of Medical Evangelists; G. A. Grauer, Fresno; Ernest Lloyd, Glendale; C. H. Jones, president Pacific Press Publishing association, Mountain View, Cal.; F. E. Painter of Mountain View, field agent for California, Utah, Arizona and Nevada.

There is at present a political unrest, caused mainly by financial conditions in the country. Even the members of the party in power are dissatisfied with the present slowness of business and are wondering what the cause may be. People are thinking.

THREE MORE BIG DAYS LEFT OF PRESENT EXTRA VOTE OFFER

Second Extra Vote Offer

Here's the second big extra vote offer of the contest. Forty thousand extra votes will be issued on every $25 worth of new subscriptions to the Evening News or Tri-City Progress turned into the Glendale Evening News office between Saturday, July 17, and Saturday, July 31, at 8 o'clock p. m. All daily subscriptions to count on this offer must be for at least three months, and all subscriptions to the Tri-City Progress must be for one year or longer.

The close of this week will be most important, for it marks the close of the big second extra vote offer. A full appreciation of the immense benefits to be derived from this extra vote is causing most of the contestants to double their efforts. Most of the candidates tell us they hope to make this week their banner week in point of new business.

The word failure isn't in their lexicon. The only thing they keep before them is the urgent necessity of amassing votes, votes, votes—and to get the most of these is to be the joyful winner, the proud owner of a brand new Maxwell Touring Car.

Staid business men, men who ordinarily allow nothing to disturb the calm and even tenor of their ways, are being imbued with the winning spirit which brings a happy smile to the faces of the contestants when the subscriptions of these business men are taken by them.

Do Not Become Discouraged
Those who are making rapid progress naturally prove a stumbling block to others who have similar ambitions. Consequently rumors are apt to become circulated that are intended to cause these progressive ones to give up the fight. Perhaps one will meet you on the street and proceed to tell you of all the votes she has with the direct thought of discouraging you.

Perhaps she tells her friends to tell you of the splendid luck she is having and how she has so many votes promised or in reserve that it would be folly to compete against her. All this with the single purpose of causing you to lose heart in the battle. You should be aware of this and pay no attention to what other contestants will tell you. Probably you have in reality just as many votes as the contestant who is trying to "bluff" you. Remember the old adage, "Don't believe anything you hear and only half of what you see." Keep this in mind and things will look different to you. Above all pay no attention to what you hear about other contestants. If they really have done all they claim, this should be an incentive for you to go out and do likewise. Say to yourself "What any one else can do, I can do," and go out and do it.

IOWA FRIENDS

On Tuesday afternoon, July 27, Mrs. Louise B. Simon of 414 Orange street entertained old friends from her former home in Iowa now residing in Pasadena, namely, Mrs. Ella McCormick, Mrs. Julius Knoblauch, Mrs. Chas. McCormack, Miss Grace McCormack and Mrs. Blanche Haskett and Mrs. Jane Brown, also Mrs. A. W. Beach, Miss Grace Beach, Miss Alice Gray Beach of W. Brand Blvd., Mrs. D. G. Crofton of 335 Orange St., Mrs. Percy De Gaston of Tropico, Mrs. Robert Martin, West Second street. The affair was very informal. Cake and ice cream were served during the afternoon. Mrs. McCormack and daughter were neighbors for many years of Mrs. Simon in Emmetsburg, Iowa. There are now nearly 100 residents in Los Angeles and nearby towns from Emmetsburg who will hold a picnic in Westlake park on Saturday.

ORATORICAL CONTEST

An oratorical contest will be held under the auspices of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union Thursday evening, August 5th, at the Methodist church of Glendale. Several young people will contest for a silver medal which will be presented by the W. C. T. U. Good music will be interspersed with the readings. Admission free. A silver offering for the work of the organization. A large audience should encourage the young people. Come.

VALLEY OF HOMES

LA CANADA DEVELOPING INTO FINE RESIDENCE DISTRICT

Expanding its fair proportions on the broad slopes of the Sierra foothills between Montrose and Pasadena, La Canada presents a most attractive prospect to the visitor. It is a valley of homes. The eye catches on all sides comfortable villas and neat bungalows, set in the midst of orange and lemon groves, clustering vines, olives, walnuts, apricots and plum trees, the branches of which groan with their luscious burden.

Everywhere is ease and comfort, peace and ineffable quiet of the hills, far from the madding crowd's ignoble strife. Not that the thrifty, intelligent and well-to-do inhabitants of this favored valley neglect their mundane interests. They harvest and market their crops with a diligence and care that brings them excellent returns. The life of the home, however, breathes on all sides unsubdued by the sordid struggle of a purely commercial community.

The valley is still in the stage where most of its inhabitants have plenty of land. The larger holdings have not yet been subdivided though the process is going on on all sides. The possibilities of the valley as a residence district were noted long ago in the days when the Beaudrys owned what are now called the Verdugo hills and when Gould built "Gould's Castle" on the northern slope of the Sierras. At that time the valley had a slightly different appearance. There was not so much cultivation for one thing. There were few or no orange groves. The natural tree growth did not obscure the view anywhere. Gradually things have changed. To the north toward the region of Tejuca pass Mr. Earl of Los Angeles, proprietor of the Tribune and the Express, holds 600 acres which he is now grading and preparing for a first-class residence district. This tract is called Earlmont. Thence down the Arroyo Seco to what is known as "The Devil's Gate," the entrance to the valley from the south, is a noble sweep of fine land, dotted here and there with the handsome residences set in the midst of nicely cultivated surroundings.

On an eminence to the west of the district, overlooking the whole valley, stands the residence of Mr. R. B. Waterman, recently built. Mr. Waterman sold not long ago part of his property to Malcolm McNaghten, son-in-law of Arthur Letts of the Los Angeles Broadway store, and another lot to Dr. Eversole. Mr. McNaghten's cousin. These two families have erected fine residences on the commanding hill where the old Waterman residence used to stand. Mr. Waterman took down his old house and will re-erect it on the hill just below his new home. From this fine site, which is at an elevation of about 2000 feet, a most magnificent view of the valley is obtained. Westward and a little to the south can be seen the rising town of Montrose. Northward the Sierras rear their crested peaks and there the palatial home of Lieut. Gov. Wallace looks out from its surrounding trees.

Toward the center of the district the fine residences and ranches of Dr. Shipman, Dr. Lanterman and Dr. Salisbury may be seen at intervals, standing in spacious grounds, with palms and fruit trees. Other places are conspicuous by their homelike appearance, such as the residences of the Rev. Dr. Brooks, and the fine place owned by Mr. Jesse Knight. The schoolhouse, the center of social life, the churches, the stores, all are conveniently situated in the center of the valley on the main road.

Southward lies the fine property of Senator Flint, known as Flint Ridge. Several homes are going up on this property which is gradually developing into a fine residence section.

The La Canada school has grown at such a tremendous rate since last September that during Easter vacation it was necessary to enlarge the building. The attendance increased from a general average of 44 to 60 pupils. The Pacific Teachers' association has done much for the valley and the schools. The parents are very anxious for a new school building and the president of the association has asked Mr. Wheat, assistant superintendent, to give an idea of the cost of a new building for the coming year. Faye Crossland is the principal and Rowena Green the assistant.

La Canada is moving for the erection of a fine new school house, which is likely to be the means of adding further to the development of the community. There is every indication that the valley is to become a prominent residence district and how soon that movement develops depends on how soon improvements such as the erection of a new school

CITRUS IN LA CANADA

GREAT OUTPUT OF LEMONS AND ORANGES IN THE FRUITFUL VALLEY

Among the most active and enterprising of La Canada's ranchers is Jesse Knight, who has a ranch in first-class cultivation on the beautiful slope of the Sierra foothills of the lovely valley. Mr. Knight has kept accurate record of the output of lemons and oranges on the different ranches of the valley and informed a representative of the Glendale Evening News yesterday that the valley has about 50 acres in lemons alone.

Dr. Salisbury's ranch, managed by Mr. Weaver, produced 6400 boxes; W. E. Lee, 1600 boxes; Mr. Jewett, 1300; Mrs. Ashley, 750; D. J. Green, 1450; J. L. Schleifflein, 775; Dr. Lyon, 200; Jesse Knight, 1930; Mr. Shepherd, 1800; P. H. Johnson, 3600; J. W. Seright, 1550; W. T. Somes, 100; total, 21,455 boxes, with a total weight of 1,000,000 pounds.

All this fruit is handled by the La Manda Park association, the California Fruit Growers' association, and the returns are taken from the season between Oct. 1, 1914, and July 1, 1915.

As to oranges, La Canada shows well in the produce column. Forty cars of oranges were sent out of the valley last season. These also went to the Fruit Growers' association and each car contained 396 boxes. This means a great deal of money. Little wonder that all the ranchers in La Canada seem prosperous. They are actually so. Quite a great deal of money has been made by them all during the past five years and as they appear to have profound business sense and up-to-date business principles their prosperity is likely to increase.

FIVE YEARS OLD

Master Herbert Eachus, small son of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Eachus of 506 Orange Grove avenue, celebrated his fifth birthday on Monday, July 26, and most royally entertained a company of his little friends in honor of the event. The merry little party was entertained with games which they very much enjoyed during the afternoon, and after they had played to their heart's content all were seated at a wonderful table decorated in red, white and blue and from which ice cream, cake, cookies and punch were served and proved very refreshing after the exertions of the play hour. The little friends who helped Master Herbert to celebrate his birthday were: Cletus Nuckolls, Vernon Nuckolls, Marcus Woodward, George Woodward, Ozro Anderson, Lionel Rettig, Arnold Lund, Jack Hertzmalchal and Robert Clewett.

MRS. CLARA E. CALHOUN

Mrs. Clara E. Calhoun, aged 67 years, passed away at 714 West Broadway, Monday, July 26.

Funeral services were held in the parlors of the Jewel City Undertaking Company, Wednesday at 3:30 p. m. Interment was in Mountain View cemetery, Pasadena.

CLUB MEMBERS INVITED

An invitation has come to all members of the Tuesday Afternoon club of Glendale from the Shakers club of Pasadena to a reception at the club house, 220 S. Los Angeles avenue, Thursday, July 29, at 3 p. m., to meet the president of the National Federation of Woman's clubs, Mrs. Pennybacker. It is the desire of the executive board of the Glendale club that as many of the members as possible avail themselves of this opportunity of meeting their national president.

house and the installation of first-class educational facilities are accomplished.

La Canada's growing community has one great blessing—abundance of fine, pure water both for domestic and irrigation purposes. There are actually four sources of supply: The La Canada Water company, the Valley Water company, which is a pumping proposition; the Hall water system and the Snover Canyon Water company. The supply is sufficiently abundant for a much larger community than that which now inhabits the valley. It is being developed for future contingencies.

PARASITES ON HENS

METHODS FOR KILLING WORST ENEMY OF POULTRY YARD

The great bane of the poultry man, especially in Southern California, is the festive little mite commonly called red mite, but to tell the truth he isn't red at all but just a plain, almost transparent gray when not filled with the good rich blood of the denizens of the chicken yard.

There are, of course, a dozen different varieties of lice, but as a rule most of them are comparatively harmless when considered in comparison with the little gray hen parasite, for they are emphatically the greatest blood suckers of them all.

The ordinary body louse eats the skin, while other varieties eat the feathers, etc., but the greedy little beggars that hide in the cracks, nail holes and any other place that gets them out of sight just fill their sides to bursting on the blood of the poor birds.

Then they really are red mites in the true sense of the word.

When they are allowed to become so numerous that the hens stop laying and with a flock of a couple dozen the family does not get enough eggs for ordinary daily use you had better "sit up and take notice" as to the cause. An investigation is certain to show millions of the little bloodsuckers. "But," say we, "why allow any such condition to exist?" The first thing, in fact, that one should do when putting chickens into a house is to dope it well and keep coping, for "eternal vigilance" and everlasting doping is the price of eggs in this all-the-year-round climate.

So, you see, instead of waiting till the mites have sucked your birds dry just use that ounce of prevention and give biddie half a show and she will fill your egg basket all right. This is, providing you have a good laying strain and feed right.

"Why," one party said to the writer, "I haven't a louse about my place and haven't had," but when we pulled off a batting near one of the perches and showed him a white, downy, looking mass of almost microscopic animalculae he was astonished. "And that's what ails my hens. I didn't find any on the birds and I was sure I hadn't any on the premises." You see these mites do not stay on the birds in the day time; just rest up in hiding and digest the blood, but as soon as the birds are on the roost they are out in force and hard at work.

About the only evidence you have when looking for them without tearing off boards is the tiny specks of white along the cracks in the house.

If not disturbed the under side of the perch is a favorite resort for them, under a splinter or in a nail hole.

The mite breeds every nine days, and millions of them hatch every week; and for this reason one doping is not sufficient as a few stray mites that you may not reach at the first doping will reproduce right speedily again.

"What shall I do to get rid of these pests?" I hear you asking. There are various ways of killing them and holding them in check, one of which is the use of the spray pump with a preparation made this wise: Mix a pint of carbolineum with a gallon of distillate. This will prove very effective. Spray every part of the house, every crack and crevice, the under side of the perch particularly, and also soak well around the ends of the perch.

This preparation stains more or less, but it kills and scares them away. The odor of the carbolineum stays and they can't live in that kind of an atmosphere. Remember, vermin breathe through their skin and can be choked as one might express it. This spraying should be done about once a month for three months. Then if there isn't any evidence of further depredations let up for a time. This should be done whether you know you have mites or not.

Another good preparation that is odorless, colorless and harmless in the form of a powder is Talbot's Lice powder. It cannot only be used in the house but also freely on the bird. It stays on and kills.

There are various preparations on the market, but we have found the above safe and sure in their work.

Mites breed in Southern California all the year round and their size, greediness and hiding proclivities make them the terror of the chicken owner.

G. IRWIN ROYCE.

PRAYER MEETING TONIGHT

The monthly business meeting of the Congregational church will be held tonight at the close of the prayer meeting, which will be held in the church. Interesting business will be discussed.

HONORED NEW MEMBERS

PRESBYTERIANS HOLD INTERESTING MISSION FUNCTION LAST NIGHT

Tuesday evening, July 27, the members of the Presbyterian church of Glendale and their friends enjoyed a banquet and reception given by the Woman's Missionary society and the members of the church whose names begin with the letters from L to R, with Mrs. R. W. Meeker as chairman. This was in honor of Miss Helen Smith, the church's representative in Soochow, China, who is home on a short vacation, her mother, Mrs. Anna Smith, and her brothers, Mr. Irvin and Mr. Theodore Smith of Highland Park, and also complimented the new members of the church.

Mrs. Daniel Campbell as toastmistress gave a hearty welcome to Miss Smith who has been such an efficient and faithful worker in Soochow during her three years' stay there. She then called upon the pastor, Rev. W. E. Edmonds, who responded with hearty greetings to Miss Smith. He said: "We welcome her first for what she is, her strong Christian character and her devotion to the cause; second, because of the excellent work she is doing among the Chinese, and third because of the work she is going to do as a teacher of the Bible among the educated women of Nanking. As she sails so soon again for her work this is in the nature of a goodbye as well as of a welcome." He assured Miss Smith that our interest and prayers for her success would follow her in her new field.

Mr. David Black, the earnest Sunday school superintendent who is loved by all, said he would give a toastette from the Sunday school. After telling a funny story about a preacher whose carefully prepared sermon had been destroyed by his young son and the dog, he gave a short account of the importance and success of the Sunday school work. He said the pastor was regular at Sunday school, most of the elders and deacons, the Brotherhood largely, a great many of the Missionary and Aid society and Christian Endeavor members were all workers in the Sunday school. The motto is, "Every member of the church a member of the Sunday school." He assured Miss Smith of the support of the school and a hearty interest in all missionary work.

Mrs. Campbell introduced Mrs. W. J. Smith, president of the Ladies' Aid. Mrs. Smith is not only president of the Aid, but has been treasurer of the Missionary society for the past five years and previous to that had been treasurer of another missionary society for 11 years. Mrs. Smith greeted Miss Smith heartily and said she felt sure of one thing, that the missionary would carry through any good work because her name is Smith. She extended a hearty welcome in behalf of the Aid and gave a brief outline of the duties of the society, inviting the new members to attend the meetings.

Mr. Calvin Whiting responded in behalf of the Brotherhood in a very happy manner. Speaking of Miss Smith's new work in Nanking he said his brother was the first Presbyterian missionary who went to that city many years ago and his body was laid away with honors at that place. In closing he quoted Henry Van Dyke, "Home again where the air is full of sunshine and the flag is full of stars."

Mr. McMullin, representing the Baracas, said: "Baraca means blessed. Only those who serve are blessed." He asked Miss Smith to remember that the Baracas are her faithful friends.

Miss Pearl Adams gave a delightful toast for the Christian Endeavor society. "It was remarked by some one that missions constitute the business of the church and the Christian Endeavorers being an active part of the church life, is helping the missionary cause largely," said Miss Adams.

Mrs. Clyde Brooks was called upon in behalf of the new members and, asking them to stand, said in part, "We welcome you, we love you and in the words of Scripture, 'Come thou with us and we will do thee good'."

The president, Mrs. Campbell, gave greetings from the missionary society. Miss Smith replied to all very sweetly and showed her appreciation by the happy light in her face. She said she thought Adam's name had been Smith and every one had been so called except those who did some wrong and these were given another name. She thanked all for the hearty support that had been given her and spoke of her joy in looking forward to her work in Nanking.

A fine musical program followed. Miss Lois Jones of Los Angeles giving a beautiful selection on the harp. She was encored again and again.

GERMAN OPINION OF AMERICAN POLICY

Germans in general are strongly behind the expressed opinions of the leading newspapers of the fatherland concerning the American note. Needless to say they concur in condemning it roundly. The idea that the American government should resent the taking of American lives by submarine attack on unarmed, passenger steamships apparently strikes the average German mind as something to be wondered at. Naturally the "superman" can do no wrong and even what may appear to be wrong must not be supposed to be so; while even if what he does is wrong according to the standard of those who have not enjoyed the privilege of German "kultur" it cannot be wrong as it is indorsed by the super-nation itself.

Carl W. Ackerman, German staff correspondent of the United Press, says that comments passed on Germany for her strong belief in her own destiny, as represented by her "kultur" caused more resentment than anything else that happened in the early days of the war. The German indignation at last changed to contempt as the idea grew that the world laughed at Teutonic "kultur." The Germans believe that the world has been left so far behind by Germany in its phenomenal progress that it is unable to understand the German point of view.

It would appear that this supermundane opinion of Germany's superhuman intelligence has grown to such an extent that now the kaiser's people can not bear even the shade of suggestion that everything they say and do is not all right. They believe that they are pre-eminent and that anyone who questions that pre-eminence is guilty of lese majeste.

Of course that is all very interesting as a human phenomenon; but it does not concern this country in its development of its own theory and practice of human rights and national privileges. The United States is likely to take its own view of how its citizens should be treated on the high seas and is certain to maintain its own policy in the face of either German or British interference.

Given a little time and this country will develop a naval and military defense that will make even the supermen of Germany pause before they attempt to provoke it. There is every indication that the advisory board composed of the nation's scientists will develop shortly some device that will render the kaiser's submarines ineffective. Confronted with superior weapons even the superman is nothing but valiant dust.

NATIONAL EDUCATIONAL ASSOCIATION

One of the great benefits of the California expositions is that they have brought and are bringing to the Pacific coast a great number of national conventions of different bodies. In this way east and west meet on common ground, in happy surroundings and learn of each other. This year the National Educational Association meets at Oakland. It is a kind of international congress, held August 16-28, at which educators of prominence from all over the country will be able to exchange views.

The meetings of this association have hitherto been held chiefly in the east and Californians have thus been, to a great extent, debarred from the privileges of the gathering. It is understood that several of the Glendale teachers are going to the convention, where they will probably be able to gather much profitable wisdom and teaching lore and where they will also be able to convey to their brothers and sisters of the eastern states California ideas that will do them good. California rightly has earned for itself a reputation of having as high an educational standard as any State in the Union.

NEW EDUCATIONAL LAWS

It is probable that no legislature in the State of California ever passed as many far-reaching educational laws as that which has just closed its session. Of the 260 educational measures introduced 79 were special appropriation measures dealing with the established state educational institutions. The remainder, or 181, were general educational measures. Fifty-seven of this number passed and 47 have been approved by the governor.

The immediate task of considering the merits of all these measures fell upon the members of the two educational committees. Too much credit can not be given those men for the careful consideration which they gave these measures. The success with which they handled the matter and the confidence reposed in them, was shown by the fact that of the fifty-eight measures recommended for passage by both committees, only one failed to get through.

STATE SANITARY INSPECTION

Sanitary inspections cover a wide range of subjects and the State Board of Health has been exceedingly active in seeing that not only city but also country enterprises are running in accordance with the health laws. The Board's inspectors have visited and inspected summer resorts, canneries, jails, lodging-houses, ferryboats, sanitariums, hospitals, ranches, schools, packing-houses, septic tanks, sewer farms, slaughter houses, labor camps, water supplies, premises infested by rats and many other places of all sorts and descriptions. It would seem almost inconceivable that places where one would expect cleanliness should be found to be in an intolerably filthy condition. In at least one case a sanitary officer's own premises had to be condemned. In others people of modern cities were found permitting the use of a water supply seriously contaminated. In all cases, however, prompt measures were taken to remedy evil conditions without fear or favor. This is a mighty advance in State government.

ROBINSON ATTENDS TO BUSINESS

F. H. Vesper, J. Reid and H. C. Tupper and son Wallace went on a camping trip up in the Kern River locality last Friday night and remained there until Tuesday. Fishing was the chief recreation. Mr. Vesper was declared the most successful fisherman.

Spencer Robinson, who is business partner of H. C. Tupper, remained in Glendale to take care of the firm's real estate business. He reports business picking up, he having purchased one Nanny goat from Mr. Nichols, the consideration being $3.

VALLI VALLI IN THE HIGH ROAD AT THE PALACE GRAND TONIGHT

Valli Valli, the well-known musical comedy star, appears at the Palace Grand tonight in the dramatic surprise, "The High Road," which had its first run in Los Angeles just last week.

The story deals with Mary Page, who after having lived for some time with Allen Wilson as his mistress suddenly realizes the offense she has committed against society and decides to leave him. She writes him a letter telling of her intentions, but he returns before she can put her plans into action. While Wilson is unpacking his bags wine is served, but Mary refuses to drink any. Mr. Maddox, who has accompanied Wilson to his home, unburies her for what he considers her parade of virtue and Mary slaps his face. Mr. Maddox then leaves the house. Mary tells Wilson she is going to leave him and he, for the first time realizing that he loves her, tries to dissuade her, but finally being convinced of her sincerity he allows her to depart.

Mary secures a position in a shirt waist factory, not knowing that it is the one owned by Maddox. Wilson learns of Mary's whereabouts and visits her, hoping to induce her to return, but she firmly refuses.

Maddox, endeavoring to reduce expenses, cuts the girls' wages twenty per cent and Mary, assuming the leadership, approaches the manager, Mr. Cochran, and threatens a strike.

Cochran then arranges a fake riot to discourage the girls. After the riot Cochran engages a number of thugs to intimidate the girls and when the police arrive the thugs attack them, thus creating the impression that the girls are anarchistic. Cochran's plan works out all right until one of the thugs shoots a policeman and is captured by Mary, who courageously holds him until the police arrive. At the station house he confesses that Cochran hired him to do the shooting.

The next day Mary visits the mayor of the town and pleads with him in behalf of the girls and discovers that the mayor is her old sweetheart whom she had refused to marry on account of her infatuation for Wilson. She tells him everything and he agrees to help her.

Maddox, learning of the mayor's sympathy for the girls, re-establishes the former wage scale and the girls return to work. That night a tremendous fire breaks out in the factory with tragic results, but the story ends happily with the joining of the mayor and Mary Page.

On Thursday and Friday Manager Jensen has booked a Paramount feature, "The Spanish Jade," a fascinating Spanish tale of love and tragedy with unique costumes and scenes of that quaint country. Betty Belairs will be seen in the title role of Manuella, the Spanish dancer.

If the United States should have serious trouble with any other nation, the trouble will be of that other nation's making.

Upon returning to the place where he had left the auto he found the machine had been stolen. Ladies who were seated on the veranda of the hotel said they saw two young men wearing straw hats work with the machine a few minutes and then drive it away. The license number of the machine is 59365. The auto was insured for $400.

HONOR NEW MEMBERS

Miss Martha Porter of the local church delighted all with her violin solos and Miss Candee of Eagle Rock an expert whistling soloist, accompanied by her mother, held all spell bound with her birdlike notes. Mrs. Coral Harrison Sloan gave some interesting readings in her delightful and characteristic manner and in closing Rev. Edmonds held the American and Chinese flags above Miss Smith and all sang "God be with you till we meet again."

The new members of the church who were honored by last night's affair were Rev. H. M. Goodwin, Mrs. J. S. Rochester, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. McCurdy, Mrs. A. H. Dimmick, Mrs. J. B. Wallace, Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Pidgeon, Mr. Jesse H. Flower, Miss Mildred Meeker, Mrs. S. L. Brown, Mrs. Howard Brown, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Stofft and children, Frederick and Katherine; Mr. S. G. ## MEETING AT LA CANADA

It is expected that there will be a large attendance at the meeting of La Canada Association, which will be held Saturday evening, July 31, at 8 p. m. There will be a brief business session at which affairs of importance will be discussed. An interesting program will follow. Harold Brooks will give a talk on "The Meat Industry;" Miss Opal Browne of Pasadena, a reading; Henrietta Harris, a paper on "The Social Center in the Rural School;" W. R. Cuthbert of Alhambra, several musical selections. Refreshments will be served.

La Canada Improvement association was organized in March, 1912. This association meets every alternate Saturday evening, and there has been a very good attendance at each meeting. The association has discussed many things of a public nature and through these discussions and suggestions have been instrumental in procuring many things of benefit to the La Canada people, such as electric lights in the club hall, church and school house, streets cleaned, street signs, house numbering and a branch county library.

The association has tried to interest the people in an electric line through the valley, but so far have not been able to do any definite work in that line.

There are macadamized, good roads through the valley and the ride from Glendale through La Canada valley to Pasadena is picturesque. The state highway will shortly pass through La Canada.

The association tries to have a speaker on some subject of interest and a few musical selections each meeting, besides the regular business, after which a social time is spent. At the present time it is trying to form a lighting district and hopes in the near future to have this part with street lights. Mr. Howard Cooper is president of the association; Mrs. Geo. McMillen, treasurer; Mr. P. H. Johnson, auditor, and Margaret H. Green, secretary.

TENNIS EXPERTS BEATEN

In the presence of an enthusiastic crowd who emphasized each point with applause M. Freeman and Ed Sadler, who have all along been counted on to win the doubles in the tennis tournament at Glendale High School summer playground, were defeated by L. Crandall and Billy Balthis. The two latter boys showed how effective is control when opposed to force. Freeman and Sadler had the match in their own hands but made the profound mistake of trying to break down their opponents by speed. They failed and lost two sets straight.

Crandall and Balthis are now practically certain of winning the remaining matches in the doubles and should carry off the prizes. They exhibited fine mental control and self confidence which is quite unusual in boys so young.

FOURTH EPISODE OF "THE GODDESS" AT THE MAJESTIC TONIGHT

That evening as Celestia entered the hut to retire, she called to Tom, "Aren't you coming?" Tom, realizing her childish innocence and ignorance of worldly ways, laughingly replied "Not room enough for two in there, but if you get frightened or want anything just call; I'll hear And—goodnight!"

The Professor, from his hiding place, lost not a word of their conversation, and with grim determination kept his gun cocked, pointed at Tom. Realizing, however, that she was perfectly safe in Tom's keeping, he retreated, deciding not to separate them until the morning.

Celestia arose first, and awakened Tom by bending over him and kissing him. He reproved her and she showed by her injured air that she could not understand the necessity for the reproof.

Celestia wanted to cook the breakfast, so Tom gave in and went for a swim.

While busily engaged in preparing the meal, the Professor suddenly appeared before her and, grasping her by the arm, tried to hypnotize her; but in her fright his powers did not take root, and she ran toward Tom, calling at the top of her voice, followed by the professor and his party.

Tom was helpless to aid her, as he could not emerge from the water, and the professor laughed at his predicament. Celestia could not understand, and, turning from him coldly, accompanied the professor.

They leave the island, and, landing, take up the trail to Four Corners.

Tom then emerges from the water and seeks his clothes, but they had been removed by the old Indian. Not to be thwarted, Tom swims to the mainland, taking with him a buffalo robe. See the balance of this fascinating film play tonight at the Majestic theater, Glendale.
